KELLY LISTS
HIS PROGRAM
OF NEW LAWSTWO LEGISLATIVE SCRAPS ASSURED
AT LANSING

BY G. MILTON KELLY
Lansing, Jan. 4 (P)—Governor Kelly today outlined to the legislature goals he hopes to attain through enactment of laws in his next two years in office, but left for the future disclosure of the heart of his program.

His message, which he read for 75 minutes to the House and Senate in joint session, drew from several legislative leaders statements that they considered the legislature would have to return in a special session in 1946 if even most of Kelly's program is to become law.

Much Ground Covered
The document featured requests that funds be provided for immediate relief of overcrowding in state hospitals, including expansion of existing facilities and plans for construction of a new hospital in Wayne county, for a liberalization of state grants to the needy, and a $30,000,000 addition to the postwar state building construction program.

Despite the gaps left while study commissions complete their reports, it still covered more subjects than most messages. In the House, Rep. John P. Espie, chairman of the budget making ways and means committee, said it was "a good message, but if we do all of that he asks we'll have nothing left of the present surplus. I think it will make a special session of the legislature necessary in 1946."

Speaker Howard Nugent called it "an excellent" message, and added he also thought it meant another legislative session was in store next year. Lieutenant Governor Vernon J. Brown called it "a comprehensive message showing a very keen perception of the social needs and responsibilities of the state."

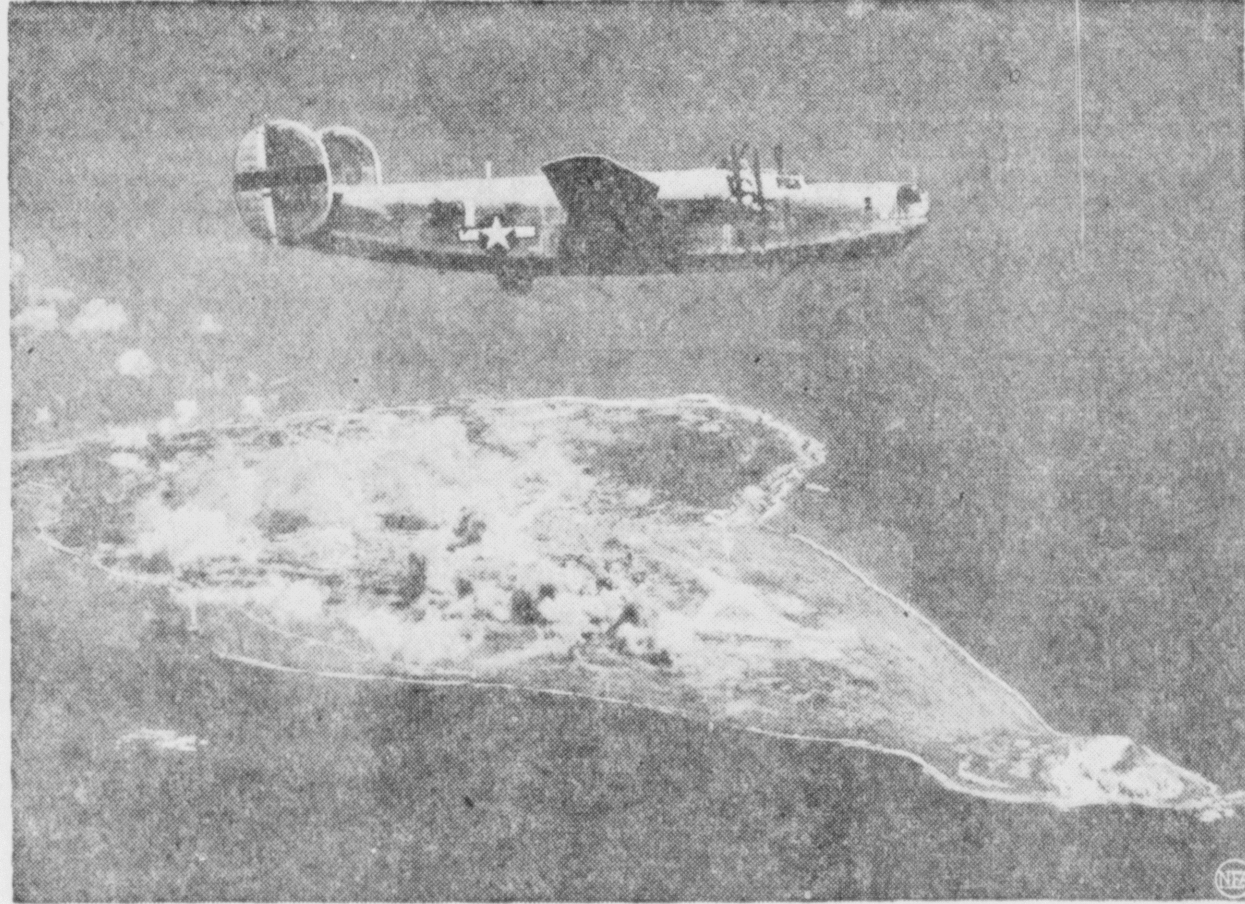

Tourist Trade Important
Kelly left to future messages disclosure of what he will ask of the legislature in the form of tax law revision, liquor law reform, appropriations for the public schools and simplification of the formula for distributing the money, expansion of veterans' care programs and some other items, all of which await reports by study groups.

He described the tourist industry as a prop to help the state in the expected postwar depression when industry suspends to retort for civilian production, and declared this great industry can be "strengthened" with proper encouragement from the state. He endorsed creation of a tourist council to integrate promotional activity.

Kelly asked the legislature to raise average old age assistance grants from $29.78 a month to $35, average grant for aid to dependent children from $60.10 per family to $71 a month; and to make an unspecified increase in aid to the blind grants, plus an expanded program of training sightless persons for gainful employment.

Proposing immediate steps to relieve overcrowding conditions in state mental hospitals, which now have no room to receive several hundred patients in need of care, Kelly recommended appropriations for expansion of the Pontiac State hospital, Caro State hospital and Coldwater Home and Training School, in addition to a request for forwarding plans for construction of a state hospital for

Carrier Planes Blast
Formosa And Okinawa

BY CLYDE BARTEL
Associated Press War Editor
United States Third fleet carrier planes blasted Formosa and Okinawa island in Japan's southwestern front yard Wednesday (U. S. Time) for the second straight day. Pearl Harbor headquarters announced yesterday (Thursday), adding to Japan's admitted fear of "daring offensives" to come.

The communique gave no details of the bold American naval air thrust at Formosa and Okinawa, in the Ryukyu chain, but Tokyo radio said that 500 planes raided the islands the first day and 400 hit them again Wednesday.

The enemy radio declared that the "daring enemy forays" were obviously intended to facilitate "a quick decision in the Philippines" and an attempt to "sever our air supply routes to the Philippines."

American airmen operating from central Philippines army fields sank or damaged 35 Japanese war and merchant vessels off Luzon island Tuesday and Wednesday (Philippine Time), Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported, for a total of 60 enemy craft hit in that area the first three days of the year.

Included in the two-day total of blasted Nipponese shipping were 25 freighters and transports hunted down in Lingayen gulf and Subic bay, aggregating 57,000 tons; a seaplane carrier, three escort vessels, a coastal ship and five luggers.

American fliers destroyed 20 Japanese planes on the ground in another attack on Clark Field, northwest of Manila. The Nipponese retaliated savagely with five raids Tuesday night on the Yank airfield on Mindoro island, damaging installations.

With Japan's attention centered on the Philippines, where Gen. Douglas MacArthur's planes sank or damaged 25 Nipponese vessels off Luzon island's west coast Monday, Tokyo broadcast a report that another American convoy was heading through the Sulu Sea, south of Luzon and Mindoro island. This report was not confirmed by American sources.

While Nagoya, third largest Japanese city, smoldered after the Tuesday Superfortress raid in strength, Premier Kuniaki Koiso warned the Nipponese cabinet that the battle which started with MacArthur's landing on Leyte island October 20 "is gradually spreading throughout the Philippines."

U.S. Airmail Rates To Distant Points Will Be Cut Jan. 15
Washington, Jan. 4 (P)—A reduction in air mail rates, effective Jan. 15, between the continental United States (including Alaska), and Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Hawaii was announced today by Postmaster General Frank C. Walker.

The half-ounce rate between the United States and Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands will be eight cents, a reduction of two cents. Between the United States and Hawaii it will be 15 cents, a reduction of five cents.

The rate between Puerto Rico and Hawaii will be 23 cents, seven cents lower.

Henceforth air mail rates from Hawaii to foreign countries will be the rate from Hawaii to the United States plus the rate from the United States to the country of destination, providing the mail is routed via the United States.

Control Of Lumber Tightened By WPB
Washington, Jan. 4 (P)—A drastic tightening of control over the distribution of lumber was announced today by the War Production Board.

Each sawmill covered by regulation L-335 is now permitted to ship lumber only on certified orders, or upon specific authority from WPB. Formerly mills were allowed to fill uncertified orders when such shipments did not interfere with filling certified orders.

NAZI ASSAULT ATTEMPTS TO AID BUDAPESTRUSSIANS CONTINUE ANNIHILATION OF DOOMED CITY

BY W. W. HERCHER
London, Jan. 4 (P)—A large tank and plane battle has developed northwest of Budapest where the German army is pressing an assault "to breakthrough to assist their grouping surrounded in Budapest," Moscow announced tonight.

The Russians said the Germans have suffered heavy losses, but did not report their positions, stating in the Soviet nightly communique only that attacks by large forces of infantry and tanks had been repulsed.

On Wednesday alone, 78 German tanks were disabled or destroyed in this sector and 58 enemy planes were shot down, the Soviet bulletin said.

Reds Seize 277 Blocks
The grim reduction of the Hungarian capital continued. Moscow announced the capture of another 277 blocks of buildings, giving them control of a total of more than 1,300.

Wednesday's communique had placed the Germans southeast of Komarom, on the Danube almost 45 miles northwest of Budapest, where the Germans were acknowledged to have re-won several unnamed towns on the south bank of the river.

Reports from Moscow said that experts there believed the German drive southeast of Komarom had been halted, but there was no indication of this in the communique.

By Soviet account since the Nazis mounted their attacks in this area three days ago they have lost at least 118 tanks and 58 planes as well as several thousand German and Hungarian troops.

Although it apparently is the greatest counterthrust of the Hungarian campaign, the only German gains Moscow has admitted were the seizures of the towns along the Danube.

Success Unlikely
It was not clear whether the German blows were intended actually to rescue the trapped units in Budapest or merely to draw off Soviet pressure. It seemed unlikely the Germans would be able to drive more than 30 miles through Soviet-held territory before annihilation or capitulation of the already-decimated garrison.

The surrounded garrison in Budapest, most of which had been concentrated in Buda on the western bank of the Danube, made a strong attack in an attempt to break through the Russian ring, but was beaten back.

Large-scale air battles also were being waged over Budapest, Moscow dispatches said, adding to the day of the day and night battle. The Germans claimed that their planes disabled 34 Russian tanks Wednesday.

Ban On National Conventions Seen
New York, Jan. 4 (P)—A ban on national conventions appeared today as the next move in tightening up the war effort.

Such an order was anticipated by the American Transit Association, whose president, Col. Roane Waring of Memphis, sent to War Mobilization Director Byrnes a telegram offering cooperation in such a move.

The telegram by Byrnes said the ATA was "informed that your office is contemplating a ban on all national conventions for the current calendar year."

The expected directive, intended to ease some of the burden on the nation's transportation systems, would become another in the series that has marked the turn of the year: An end to racing, cancellation of many outstanding travel stamps, tightening up in the draft, and the freeing of civilian production.

Fire Takes Lives Of Six In Family
Coldwater, Mich., Jan. 4 (P)—The death of four-year old Henry Kehoe Thursday brought to six the toll of dead in a fire Tuesday which caused the death of his mother and three brothers and a sister at their home near Union City.

The mother and children were trapped in a corner of the living room by the fire, which started when the father, Morris Kehoe, Sr., poured gasoline into a lamp and spilled it on a nearby heating stove. The father and a sixth child, Jack, 9, survive.

Government Accused Of Trespassing In Ward Store SeizuresLIQUOR CONTROL
CRITIC RETAINED

Chicago, Jan. 4 (P)—Montgomery Ward & Co. today accused the army of "trespassing" and going beyond what it called "the president's illegal order of seizure" in operation of company properties in seven cities seized a week ago.

The company management made public a letter by H. L. Pearson, vice-president and treasurer, sent yesterday to Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Byron, military manager. The letter "demanded" the army furnish a solution to the problems raised.

General Byron replied all steps taken had been in "strict conformity with the law" and added that "the integrity of the United States is pledged to the protection of the legal rights of all parties in this matter." Pearson's letter said:

"Under your instructions your agents are today (Wednesday) not only continuing the trespasses against Ward's properties which are described in the president's illegal order of seizure, but are going beyond that order in their interference with Ward's business and with service of Ward's customers:

"1. Your agents are endorsing and cashing customers checks payable to Ward's, many of them in payment of merchandise delivered weeks and even months ago."

"2. Your agents are distributing without authorization drafts on Ward's treasurer, in payment of merchandise you have appropriated and in refund of overpayments which you have received from customers."

"These illegal actions require immediate correction on your part. We demand that you inform us how you propose to handle these and related problems and arrange the solution with us."

General Byron's statement, replying to company charges that the army had gone beyond "the president's seizure order" said:

"All the steps that have been taken have been in strict conformity with the law and a careful accounting is being kept of all financial transactions so that proper accounting can be made to the company for funds representing business transacted before the war department took possession."

At the outset of the seizure Sewell Avery, Ward's board chairman, called it unconstitutional and said the company "can not in good citizenship accept or obey" it.

Morrison said Shepler's assignment as the auditor general's department's auditor of liquor commission books and records, and observer of its administration, would be continued "because it's my impression that he still has a job to do there."

Shepler had been assigned to audit liquor commission business by former Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, who collaborated with Shepler in public statements that the commission was poorly managed under direction of William P. Edmonson, who resigned recently as a sequel to the attacks.

Morrison announced the liquor commission plans to install a completely new accounting system, and that "an experienced man like Shepler should be there."

The commission, which has been under fire for its merchandising and enforcement policies, also announced today it would conduct a survey of liquor control systems in a number of monopoly and non-monopoly states.

The commission designated W. Locke, deputy state revenue commissioner, to conduct the survey.

Canadians Defeat Crack Nazi Troops In Po Valley Push
BY GEORGE BRIA
Rome, Jan. 4 (P)—Canadian troops of the Eighth army, supported by tanks, continued to advance in the eastern Po valley today after capturing the small town of Conventello in a battle with crack German Jaeger troops.

Conventello lies two miles east of Alfonsine, a stronghold on the Ravenna-Ferrara road which the Allies are closing in upon.

Although the Germans brought up Tiger and Panther tanks to oppose the Canadian thrust through Conventello northward toward the town of Sant'Alberto, they failed to halt it and suffered heavy casualties.

A battle finally developed at a point two miles past Conventello and two miles short of Sant'Alberto when Allied and German tanks collided. This battle was continuing today.

Piled-Up River Ice Easy For Mackinaw, New Ice-Breaker
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 4 (P)—The Mackinaw, new $10,000,000 ice-breaker, will convey four Maritime commission freighters through the lower river after their arrival from Duluth Saturday or Sunday.

Twelve-inch ice in the lower river was broken by the Mackinaw on her maiden voyage Wednesday, plowing through places where the ice was windrowed to 7 feet, according to her commander, Edwin J. Roland.

The river above the locks is being kept open by the Sault cutter Chaparral. Ice here is only 5 to 6 inches, and Commander T. A. Dahlburg of the Sault said it should provide no trouble for the cargo ships.

STRONG GAINS
BEING SCORED
BY AMERICANSFIRST AND THIRD ARMIES NARROW
BELGIAN NECK

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR

Paris, Jan. 4. (P)—U. S. First army armor and infantry struck through a raging blizzard today on a 17-mile front, grinding out gains up to three and a half miles which put them scarcely 12 miles from where the Third army was hammering back an enemy onslaught led by 100 tanks.

(Berlin broadcasts said British tanks and the U. S. Ninth army had joined the offensive on the north, and the U. S. Seventh entered the struggle from the south, indicating Gen. Eisenhower was throwing such powerful forces into the battle that he had abandoned his winter drive into Germany.)

Supply Road Menaced
American blows from north and west brought the fall of three Belgian towns and sent doughboys into at least six others.

Diversions enemy assaults spreading from the western Saar 70 miles east to the Rhine were blunted after the U. S. Seventh army had given up all footholds in the Reich's Palatinate and the enemy had penetrated seven miles into the doughboys' northern Vosges mountain line.

In a blinding blizzard that cut visibility to 10 yards, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' vengeance-Cent First army scoring gains averaging two miles, on the second day of its offensive, was less than two miles from Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's main northern highway of supply.

Storm Helps Enemy
Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army was the same distance away from the only other good all-weather east-west highway on the south, and only the blizzard kept Von Rundstedt from having his lateral routes scorched by the commanding fire of American artillery.

The attack on the northern flank, launched without a tip-off barrage, caught Von Rundstedt where his positions were thinnest, and front reports only 12 hours old declared that already the counter-offensive had driven into the main enemy defenses.

The drive on the lateral highway south of Grandmenil, 20 miles north of Bastogne, apparently was the one which placed Hodges troops less than 14 miles from Patton's embattled forces.

While Von Rundstedt threw in a few tanks against the First army, his lethargy in reacting promptly to a staff officer to tell Associated Press Correspondent William F. Bond "The whole situation

BEAN'S DECISION NOT YET MADE

Council Awaits Return Of City Manager From Pontiac

The Escanaba city council last night received a resolution from the directors of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce asking that everything possible be retained to the services of City Manager George E. Bean, but no further action was taken because Bean has not yet returned from Pontiac to report to the council whether he will accept the position offered him here.

The resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, C. R. Wickman, resident there, cited the capabilities of the city manager and asked the council to keep him here if possible.

Bean Tuesday night was in Pontiac to confer with the city council there, which had offered him the position of city manager at a salary of $8,000 a year. He was not expected to arrive in Escanaba until tomorrow.

From Pontiac it was reported that Bean had not definitely accepted the Pontiac job and will not go until after he returns to Escanaba. It was assumed that he meant to meet here with the city council before announcing whatever decision he has made.

insane in Wayne county.

Consolidation Urged

He proposed that the state hospital commission, now the policy-making body of the mental hospital program, be reduced to advisory powers and a single administrative head of the program be designated by statute. He did not specify whether the director should be a layman.

The governor asked the legislature to consolidate all public health services in the state health department. Eleven agencies now divide this work.

He urged a strengthening of agricultural produce grading laws, without being specific about the points to be bolstered, declaring this should be accompanied by a broader advertising program.

Deficiencies in state contributions to teacher, non-teaching school employee, and state employee pension funds should be "reduced," he said, urging the legislature also to provide a $1,000,000 fund for state participation in expected "bargain sale" of federal surplus war property.

Strengthening of state planning laws to allow regional planning of slum clearance and other projects; addition of $300,000 to the five-year postwar state building construction program to bring it up to $90,000,000; a broad program of state park improvement; preparation of land use and forest surveys were among other points he requested.

Caution Advised

The governor cautioned lawmakers that when his tax program is submitted, they should approach it "with open minds, seeking to find solutions that will be best for all the people, and not measure our judgments with what is best for just part of the people."

The budget of normal state operating expenses, he said, will run about $6,000,000 greater than that in the current fiscal year, but that uncertain war conditions make it likely the figures will change.

Kelly asked for "serious consideration" of demands of the University of Michigan and Michigan State College for increases in their appropriations, and recommended appropriation of an additional $2,500,000 for financing local postwar planning projects.

Of the requested $30,000,000 increase in the postwar building program, he said Michigan has followed a "hand-to-mouth" building policy and a "haphazard and inadequate" system of building maintenance for which it now must pay to catch up with needs.

He endorsed a proposal that Michigan State College extension service give service to the tourist industry as it does to agriculture, and asked the legislature to petition Congress for complete Federal financing of a Great Lakes harbors development program.

TWO CONTROVERSIES

Lansing, Jan. 4. (P)—Two sure-fire controversies were broached in the legislature today as bills to reopen the "fast vs. slow" time question and to reduce small loan interest rates went into the hopper.

Senator Elmer R. Porter, Blissfield Republican, introduced a bill to repeal the "local option" provision of the war time statute. He would force the entire state to follow Central War (slow) Time. Cities now have the privilege of

SEVENTH FALLS BACK

With two regiments of infantry in support, the tanks struck at Longchamps against the heroic 101st airborne division defenders of Bastogne and at Michamps, five miles northeast of Bastogne. Both attacks were battered down but they succeeded in stemming Patton's drive.

The 26th infantry division was locked in heavy fighting in the mountains south and west of Wiltz, 10 miles east of Bastogne.

Supreme headquarters disclosed that the U. S. Seventh army had given up its last positions on German soil and had fallen back into France as much as five miles at some points. Withdrawals from the Palatinate east of Wissembourg were announced yesterday.

Bloody fighting broke out in the Vosges mountains north of Relpmiller, eight miles south of Bitche, where the German push had carried to within two and a half miles of the open Alsatian plain.

In the western Saar, the Germans were driven back across the Saar River two and a half miles west of Volkingen, six miles southeast of Saarlautern.

At the northern end of the front, the Canadian First army repulsed attacks in company strength by the Germans crossing the Maas River.

American infantry, heavily bundled against the biting cold, was running into deadly German bazooka and anti-tank fire, road-blocks and mine fields. Regular infantrymen following armored spearheads and tank-riding troops were mopping up by-passed pockets.

Greatest gains were on the flanks. By 10 a. m. today forces at the western end of the drive in a drive of more than two miles had fought to within five miles of La Roche, 10 miles north of Bastogne. At the eastern end, advances up to three miles put the First less than two miles from the enemy's vital La Roche-St. Vith highway.

Patton's Bastogne wedge was a swirling battleground into which the enemy threw at least 100

Mrs. A. M. Gilbert Named By Council To Library Board

Mrs. A. M. Gilbert of 1301 Stephenson avenue was appointed, and Harold P. Lindsay was reappointed to the Carnegie public library board last night by the Escanaba city council. Mrs. Gilbert will succeed J. J. Bartella, who advised Mayor Sam Wickman that he did not wish to be considered for reappointment.

Terms of the library board members are for four years.

Mayor Wickman said that he was informed by Bartella that because of the press of other business he did not desire reappointment to the board, while Lindsay said that he would accept if reappointed.

Try Personal Injury Suit In Court Today

The personal injury suit of Mrs. Hulda Korpi of St. Jacques vs. Henry Frey of Rensselaire, Ind., was scheduled to go to jury trial today in circuit court here with Judge Frank A. Bell presiding.

It is the claim of the plaintiff that a car driven by Frey collided with a car driven by the late John Korpi, husband of the plaintiff, and caused her alleged injuries. The accident occurred August 21, 1941, three miles west of Ensign.

Bribery Recalled

Asserting fast time has not aided the war effort as its sponsors contended, Porter said "Wayne county is a sort of island in a mid-western sea of slow time. All of Ohio and Indiana now are on slow time, and if they aren't hurting the war effort, why should we put up with this nonsense and confusion."

Proposals to reduce the small loan interest rates always have started a legislative scrap in past sessions and this year were even grander because the Carr was used to influence former small loan legislation.

Rep. Maurice E. Post, Rockford Republican and influential member of the house, led a group of old-guard colleagues in introducing a bill which would cut the maximum legal interest rate on small loans from three per cent a month to two per cent on amounts up to $10 and from 2½ per cent a month to 1½ per cent on loans over $100. Small loans may not legally exceed $300.

Job For LaFramboise

Co-introducers of the bill were Reps. George Gillespie, of Gaines, David E. Morrison of Germfask, and Fred L. Kircher, of Lansing, all Republicans.

At the same time, a more drastic interest reduction was proposed in another bill introduced by a house minority group headed by Rep. Joseph J. Leszynski, Detroit Democrat. It would cut maximum rates to a flat two per cent. Co-sponsors of that bill were Reps. Gerald Murphy, Michael O'Brien and Bernard O'Brien, all Detroit Democrats.

Post said he was motivated by a belief current rates are too high and by the grant jury charges.

In the senate, Joseph A. LaFramboise, of Gladstone, a Democratic senator last session who was defeated running for congress last November on the Republican ticket, was appointed assistant sergeant-at-arms.

A committee appointed to recount the contest between Fred Kappler, Lake Linden Democrat, and Harry Hermann, Laurium Republican, announced it had postponed its arrival at Houghton until Monday night and would start work Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Elliot Dies At Home In Bark River Last Night

Mrs. Erma Elliot, aged Bark River resident, died at 8 o'clock last night at her family home. Despite her age, 78, she had not been in ill health and her death came unexpectedly.

Born January 16, 1886, in Ishpeming, Mrs. Elliot and her husband, the late Charles Elliot, who died in 1936, moved to Wilson in 1902. In 1925 they moved to Bark River and had resided there since. Mrs. Elliot was a member of St. George's church, Bark River.

Surviving are five sons and three daughters, Peter of Bark River, Henry of Seattle, Homer, Arthur and Clifford of Iron Mountain, Mrs. M. G. Heath and Mrs. Ralph Olsen of Escanaba, and Laura of Two Rivers, Wis. Twenty-seven grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren also survive.

The body was taken to the Boyle funeral home in Bark River. Funeral arrangements had not been completed last night.

Carl G. Bergquist, Stonington Pioneer, Dies Suddenly Here

Carl Gustaf Bergquist, 67, one of the pioneer farmers of Stonington, died suddenly at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ed Pearson, 1315 First avenue north, at 6:15 o'clock Thursday evening. Mr. Bergquist, who had been ill for the past two weeks, had been staying at the home of his sister for the past few days while receiving treatment and died while at dinner.

He was born November 6, 1877, at Fauland, Sweden, and came to Stonington with his parents when a child ten years old. He had been a resident there for 57 years.

Surviving are three sisters: Mrs. Freda Johnson and Mrs. Ed Pearson of Escanaba and Mrs. August Olsson of Gladstone. There are also 21 nieces and nephews.

The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home to be prepared for burial and funeral arrangements will be completed today.

Injured Marquette Priest Improved; Leg Is Amputated

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 4. (P)—The condition of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph L. Zryd, chancellor of the Catholic diocese of Marquette injured in an automobile accident a week ago, was reported good today after an operation for amputation of his left leg. Part of the leg was severely crushed and amputation became necessary when gangrene developed, attending physicians said.

Msgr. Zryd is a former state chaplain of the Knights of Columbus.

COUNCIL OKAYS BUILDING PLAN

Harbor - Park Building Placed On Postwar Projects List

Plans for a proposed harbor and park building area which would be constructed and developed in the postwar years at the present old water station site in Ludington Park were accepted by the city council last night as part of the postwar projects program.

The plans for the development, including a harbor and park building, were drawn by Carl Krieger, Milwaukee assistant planner. In discussing the plans the council suggested minor changes, including the enlargement of the lounge room dimensions to accommodate larger gatherings.

Other business before the council included the extension of the deadline for the payment of county and school tax in Escanaba without penalty. The January 10 deadline was extended by the council to February 15. Similar time extensions have been granted in previous years.

The council also was advised by City Engineer A. V. Aronson, who acted for City Manager Bean in his absence, that preparations are under way to construct a neighborhood skating rink for small children on city property at the old brewery site on Lake Shore Drive. The rink had been requested by residents of the area.

Aronson also invited the councilmen and their wives to attend the second annual "get-together" of Escanaba city employees to be held the evening of January 9 at St. Joseph's church basement. City Attorney Denis McGinn will be toastmaster at the dinner program.

BEER PRICING RULE REVISED

Cost Of Many Brands To Be Lowered Under OPA Measure

Revised price ceilings to be placed into effect immediately for beer sold for off the premise consumption will probably result in a price rollback for many brands of beer now being sold in the county. Ray LaPorte, OPA price specialist, told beer distributors at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Escanaba city hall.

Under the new maximum price regulation for beer sales, wholesalers are restricted to a 23 per cent markup above their net cost and retailers are restricted to a 35 per cent markup over their net cost in establishing ceiling prices.

Wholesalers making deliveries outside the area customarily served are permitted to add three cents per case for deliveries made up to 20 miles beyond this area; six cents per case from 20 to 40 miles; nine cents from 40 to 60 miles, and 12 cents beyond 60 miles.

Transportation charges may be added by wholesalers in figuring their ceiling prices but only the cheapest freight rate by the most direct route may be figured in this tabulation.

The markup limitations established by the Office of Price Administration on bottle beer will probably result in the rollback of several cents per 12 ounce bottle on many brands of beer now being offered by retailers in Delta county.

The new price regulations do not

An Honest Session

IT SHOULD be a pretty chastened Michigan legislature that convened at Lansing on Tuesday of this week. With several present members of the Senate and House facing prison sentences and more former members either indicted or already sentenced to prison, for accepting bribes for their votes on state legislation, at previous legislative sessions, the presence of either bribe givers or takers should be as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth, during the present session. An added impetus to "straight and narrow" walking for members of the present legislature is offered in the fact that the grand jury investigation of Michigan's affairs is still in progress and it is not at all unlikely that other legislators may be caught in the drag-net before the investigation is closed.

The people of Michigan have been thoroughly shocked by revelations that have been made, even up to this time, as to conditions that have surrounded the operations of the state's law making bodies in the past and there now exists a determination to push the inquiry to the bitter end and "let the chips fall where they may."

Under such conditions the people of Michigan have a right to believe that they are going to be favored with at least one honest legislative session and that session convened on Tuesday of this week.

That it has required indisputable evidence of dishonesty in the past to make certain an honest legislative session this year, is not a pleasant commentary on the type of men selected in recent years in Michigan, to constitute the state legislature. Of course, there are in the present legislature, just as there have been in the past, some honest men and these men, as well as the public, should be entitled to a proceeding that will make their status clear.

Only the most searching investigation, fearlessly and honestly conducted, can accomplish this purpose.

More Soldiers Needed

THE latest draft maneuver, ordering the review of deferments of all farm workers in the 18-25 age group, serves to emphasize the need for more young soldiers but it is extremely doubtful that this action will materially ease the pressure on older age men in the so-called unessential occupations.

In Delta county, for instance, there are a total of 289 men of draft age, 18-38, now deferred in agricultural occupations. Of this number, 163 are non-farmers and presumably a large percentage of them are in the 18-25 age classification.

At first glance it would seem that the pressure is now being applied for the induction of these men into military service, but actually the number who will be available for service under the present regulations is small, indeed.

The Tydings amendment to the selective service act directs the deferment of any farm worker, regardless of age, who is employed continuously in the production of food if there is no replacement for him on the farm, and if his induction into the armed services would leave farm land uncultivated.

Replacement of farm workers is almost impossible under the present manpower situation. Even war plants, with their high wages and attractive working conditions, are confronted with acute labor shortages. The attraction to farm work is dull in contrast. The hours are long and wages, on the average, are unattractive. Working conditions are not inspiring. The average farmer must depend upon members of his own family to provide the labor to keep the farm in production.

It is true that more young men have been deferred from military service because of agricultural employment than in any other industry, but it is this fact that has permitted farmers to reach the highest production quotas in American history at a time when food is just as important as guns and bullets in achieving the ultimate victory.

Those who decry the deferments of young men engaged in farm production need only ask themselves this question: "Would you take their places on the farm if these young men were drafted into military service?"

Lumber Still Scarce

NATIONAL lumber production is still short of meeting both military and civilian needs, and so there is little prospect that there will be any additional materials for home building and other construction in 1945. Timber output in the Upper Peninsula was greater in 1944 than in 1943, but this region constitutes only a slight fraction of the lumbering industry and any local increase would not change the overall picture.

About 70 to 80 per cent of all lumber production during 1944 went directly or indirectly into the war, and that proportion is likely to continue in 1945. About 45 per cent of last year's consumption went for boxing, crating and dunnage used in the shipping of war materials. Civilian construction accounted for 30 per cent, and military uses and factory products made up the 25 per cent balance.

According to the National Lumber Manufacturers association, no reconversion difficulties are expected at war's end, and it is expected that the industry will be prepared for the boom home building market with adequate supplies of dry lumber of good quality. It is pointed out that an estimated five billion dollar home repair job is ready to fill the time lapse between the end of the war and the return to the market of other home building essentials such as plumbing.

Food Distribution

IF WE are really to achieve freedom from want and if we are truly sincere in our aim to help the so-called submerged one-third we will need to do something about food distribution efficiency, writes Prof. F. E. Musselhl of the University of Nebraska in Capper's Farmer.

In 1942 only 20 per cent of our national income was spent for food, but less than half of this amount was actually received by farmers, and from many commodities over one-half of the consumer's dollar was absorbed in distribution.

We will not solve the problem of an adequate food supply and universal employment by diverting more energy to distribution functions, Prof. Musselhl believes. If 5,000,000 more people are engaged in distribution than are really needed there to perform all essential functions, would we not be better off if somehow the excessive personnel were used to build roads, better homes, schools and churches?

Prof. Musselhl concludes: "Everyone agrees that we want food enough for everyone at reasonable prices. Likewise, everyone agrees that folks must be employed somehow in the postwar period, so already we hear of a 'back-to-the-land' movement. Is it sound?"

"American farmers have demonstrated that they can produce more with less labor than ever before and since the human capacity and need for food is limited, we cannot absorb more labor in the strictly producing phases of farming."

"We may, however, suggest again that some of the national energy might be invested in improving facilities for farm living."

THE VOICE AND THE KIDS

(Reader's Digest)

It may be that Frank Sinatra means so much to the bobby-soxers because everything else in our present civilization means so little to them, says Bruce Bliven after observing the youthful mass hysteria which engulfs The Voice where he goes.

In an article condensed from the New Republic in the Reader's Digest for January, Mr. Bliven writes that nearly all the bobby-soxers shrieking and swooning at Sinatra performances, appeared to him to be children of the poor, to whom Frankie represents a dream of what they themselves might conceivably do or become. He earns a million a year, and yet, Mr. Bliven says, he talks their language; he is just a kid from Hoboken who got the breaks.

The magic spell of The Voice is so great that some of Frankie's fans arrive at the theater before midnight of the day previous to his appearance, to stand in a line which may swell to 10,000 by the time the doors are opened; then policemen are brushed aside, push windows smashed and people hurt as the mass swirls into the theater to give itself over to ecstatic shrieking, the article says. Mr. Bliven notes that "The Voice needs a hollow square of policemen to protect him anywhere he goes; his telephone calls swamp any switchboard; his mail runs into the thousands per day. So does his income; he averages more than $20,000 a week the year round."

And yet, Mr. Bliven continues, "whatever else you may say of the adoration of The Voice, it is a strictly noncommercial enterprise, a selfless idolatry which pays its 75 cents at the box office and asks in return only the privilege of being allowed to ruin its vocal cords" with enraptured squeals and high-pitched shrieks while its idol is on the stage.

With a big share of the country in his grip, we hope Old Man Winter is packed up to go someplace else.

Take My Word For it

Frank Colby

HOW DID IT START?

Q. Why do we pronounce the "serge" of sergeant to rhyme with "barge, large"?

A. It was once correct to pronounce "e" as "ahr" in scores of familiar words. In England the usage is still customary; derby is pronounced "darby," clerk is pronounced "clark," Berkeley is pronounced "Barkly."

In America, "ahr" for "e-er" survives in varsity, short for university, and in sergeant.

The word parson has its origin in the fact that person used to be pronounced "parson." A minister or priest was spoken of as "the person." In time, the "e" was changed to "a" so as to conform with the popular pronunciation. Likewise, such words as star, start, smart were originally spelled with "e."

Q. Please pronounce and explain the word cloche, a kind of hat for women.

A. The English pronunciation has the long "o" sound of "hoe, toe," thus: kloh. The French say: klawish. In French, cloche means "a bell." The cloche is so called because of its bell-like shape.

Oddly enough, the English word clock

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—When an old congress dies and a new one comes in, a certain amount of house cleaning is necessary at the Capitol.

They're just now completing the process of ushering out the 78th and polishing the brass for the 79th Congress.

The name plates on the office doors of the lame ducks are coming down. Committees are assigning space to the newcomers in the Senate and House office buildings. Retiring members are moving out their cherished possessions.

—GETTING NEW START—
You get a feeling of a new start. The page is clean. And this time it is not merely an illusion provided by the house cleaners.

Only a rash prophet would predict the course of the 79th Congress in such a stormy time. But there are new faces and, what is more important, new minds.

The voters in November retired to private life some of the bitter end obstructionists. Men like Stephen Day of Illinois and Ham Fish of New York will no longer have a public forum for their obscurantism.

There are many positive gains in the Senate. For the first time in several years, the important military affairs committee is to have a conscientious chairman in Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah, who will replace "our Bob" Reynolds of North Carolina, now happily in retirement.

On at least one new senator national interest will inevitably center. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts is a possible Republican nominee for 1948.

He comes of a long line of Saltonstalls who have played their part in American history. Such families, even though sometimes they become stuffily conscious of their rank and prestige, give us a sense of continuing responsibility and public service.

—NEWCOMERS ARE IMPROVEMENT—
In place of Gerald Nye, North Dakota has sent John Moses to Washington with a reputation for ability. From the State of Washington comes Alert Wayne L. Morse to replace Rufus Holman, who was hardly an asset.

Congress in the next two years is going to need all the brains and the integrity that can possibly be mustered. How vast and various are the problems to be met was made clear by war mobilizer James F. Byrnes in his New Year's day report. The executive branch of the government is asking the legislature for new powers as the war moves into a critical stage.

When the war is won, the riddle of the peace must be confronted. Congress must be a partner in the settlement. Many new members were elected because the voters believed they were better equipped than their predecessors to work toward world cooperation.

Being a member of Congress is a habit that dies hard. Returned term after term, some members get the idea they have a perpetual franchise. That is one of the best reasons for holding elections—to disabuse such complacent chair warmers of the notion they are indispensable.

Washington itself is an insidious habit. Those who stay long enough rarely go back home. You can see around Washington any number of ghosts of past congresses.

They hardly ever go back to Pocatello. Worth Clark, who came from that town in Idaho, is staying on in defeat to practice law. Nye is going to North Dakota for two weeks, but the probability is that he will come back to either Washington or New York.

Staying on, they feel they're still part of the big show under the Capitol dome. And, what with friendships they've made and the positions they've helped to fill, it often pays handsomely to stay on.

The king is dead, long live the king. That's the atmosphere on Capitol Hill. Good-bye old 78th and welcome 79th. The page is fresh and we hope you will write boldly and bravely for all to read.

Gracie Allen Says.

One of the most fascinating stories I've heard in this war is that one of the English mothers whose children have just arrived home talking "Jive" and "Swing" after four years in the United States.

Goodness knows, even American parents have a hard enough time understanding their children these days. You can imagine what is happening in conservative English homes when the youngsters discuss the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace as being "off the cob, but groovy," or refer to Lord Halifax as looking like a tall Sinatra.

Even the terms "Zoot" and "Beat Me Daddy" are beginning to turn up in the hallowed precincts of Oxford and Cambridge. Now they're afraid American slang may sweep the nation. Of course, the same thing may happen to us here. Our own G. I.'s may all come home with English accents and—Oh, my goodness! Can you imagine going to Brooklyn in a couple of years and finding everyone there talking like Noel Coward?

and the French cloche are closely related. Both stem from the Latin clocca, "a bell." The original meaning of clock was "bell," for, before mechanical time-pieces were invented, bells were rung to mark the passing of the hours.

In France, a church steeple is called a clocher, from the bell or bells of the tower. Clocher is pronounced: klaw-SHAY.

Looks Like a Strong Russian Influence

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler

FIRST NOVEL.—Bruce Publishing company, Milwaukee, next spring will publish a first novel by Louis Kintzinger of 1017 Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba. The novel's title is "Bay Mild" and it is the story of commercial fishermen, or rather a commercial fisherman, in the northern Green Bay area.

Kintzinger is a commercial fisherman himself, worked with Al Christensen and the late Ed Daniels, Escanaba fishermen, until stricken with a heart ailment in June, 1941.

"I suddenly found I had a lot of time on my hands and decided to write a novel," is the way Kintzinger explains his successful entry into the world of letters.

First novels are like first children. They are the center of fond attention and the model for others that may follow. At the same time they must bear the burden of comparison with later works, and the author is judged more critically on the value of his first work than he is by his later writings.

Therefore first novels are exceedingly important to the author and his publisher.

BAY MILD.—Over the hurdle of the first novel and its acceptance by one of the newer but highly reputable publishers of the Middle West, Kintzinger is wasting no time. He is now at work on a second story dealing with commercial fishermen of the Civil War days in the vicinity of Nauvau, a little fishing village on Lake Michigan in Mackinac county.

Kintzinger knows fishermen and fishing, and it is about them and their struggles of which he writes. Incidentally, budding authors should copy and write about that with which they are most familiar.

"Bay Mild," first novel, does not mention Escanaba, and its locale is no more definitely cited than in the use of "Noquets Bay," which could be either our Little Bay de Noc or Big Bay de Noc. No closer geographical identity is necessary for a novel which, in the main, is the inspirational story of a man's triumphs over adversity that tries his body and his spirit.

The name of that man is Bay Mild.

BIRTH OF A BOY.—Kintzinger shows himself the master of descriptive writing in his own digest of his novel.

"During the sullen darkness of a wind-lashed night a mighty wave swelled out of the depths of Lake Michigan and began to travel. Unseen, unheard, it rolled northwesterly, growing and spreading, into Noquets Bay and across it, always onward toward the shore and its rendezvous with a newborn baby. Disdainfully it tossed the guard of anchored fish boats over its foaming shoulders and splashed itself across the shallows. It struck a sagging, trembling old dock and smashed itself against a cribbing, filling the night and the wind with icy spray. The newborn baby was there, behind an open window in a weatherbeaten hovel, held in the arms of an anxious father, and the wind driven spray from the sea stung them both."

Noquets Bay became the boy's mother, for his real mother left him when he was too young to miss her. And then disgrace took his father's companionship from him, for Bay Mild was sensitive.

BOY AND THE BAY.—Bay Mild was a ragged boy, but Noquets Bay was blind to rags, so the bond between them was welded.

And there was a girl with soft blue eyes and he would have shared his Noquets Bay with her—but he ran like a frightened deer lest she see his rags. He ran

During the year 1934 the city cut a heavy slice in its bonded indebtedness, paying off $76,737 in bonds and reducing the total indebtedness to $373,320. At the same time the city paid $17,553.34 in interest and also bought $8,000 worth of water bonds. In the last 12 years the city has bettered its financial condition on an average of about $80,000 a year.

Vienna.—The Austrian republic faces its second year with foreboding. Both the political and economic situations are believed here to have grown daily worse since early autumn. The holiday season found Vienna with a reduced bread ration, virtually no fats and without fuel. The expected supply of coal from Czechoslovakia has not been received and public utilities were kept partly in operation only by great efforts and economies.

FISHERMAN'S LIFE.—Bay Mild became a fisherman, as was his father before him. Handsome Truck Feeder came up from Chicago, stole the fish from his nets—and stole his blue eyed girl.

There were the battles of the fishermen, the complaints and the cursings, the hopes and the despair.

"There were the storms that whipped across the bay; there were fields of ice that caught the little fish boats in their grip and crushed them, marking Bay Mild for life, haunting him his heritage. But above all this, there was the hope and the faith that Bay Mild clung to."

ABOUT KINTZINGER.—Because Louis Kintzinger knows his subject, because he knows fishermen, and also because he approaches his writing with sincerity, he has written an excellent novel. His characters are the kind of people you know. He is sympathetic and understanding.

"I wrote 'Bay Mild' not with the thought of selling it. I wrote it first of all because there was a story to tell and I wanted to tell that story."

Because it is not a "pot-boiler" the 75,000-word novel has power and a measure of glory. It transcends the body and becomes in a sense deeply spiritual. This quality has been recognized by a Catholic book club, which has an 8,000 membership, and has selected "Bay Mild" as the book for its members in April, 1945.

Kintzinger is a graduate of St. Joseph high school, Class of 1924. He is quick to point out that his first novel is not sectarian. Rather it is a very human story about the men whose nets produce drama as well as fish.

The Lyons Den

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK.—Joe Evans, Newsweek's correspondent in France, discovered Rene Barthelmy alive in Paris. Barthelmy has spent the last 20 years developing television. During the occupation, the Nazis permitted him to continue his work, because they felt that France would remain conquered and that they would reap the benefits of his work. Barthelmy told the Newsweek reporter that when the invasion came and the Nazis started retreating, he suspected that the enemy soon would call on him. He therefore hid his apparatus and experiments and set up dummy equipment. The Nazi strong-arm men visited Barthelmy's home, as he expected, and before they left Paris they destroyed all the dummy equipment which they thought was the fruit of his 20 years' labor.

ARTURO TOSCANINI is incensed at Virgil Thompson, the music critic. The maestro's friends are trying to stop him from taking extreme measures when next they meet. . . . In his reports to Washington, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman describes the men who come to Russia for a short time and are given lavish dinners as "Vodka Visitors". . . . Nine days after his term of office expires, Henry A. Wallace will be given the first of a series of national dinners. The N. Y. diner will be sponsored by the New Republic and the Union for Democratic Action. . . . Secy. Forrester joined the list of Cabinet members who have submitted to the President their customary pre-inaugural resignations. Some of them are said to have written their resignations in disappearing ink.

THIS IS THE TIME of year when the annual rumors of Nicholas Murray Butler's resignation as head of Columbia University recur. The rumor now is 15 years old. . . . In 1928 Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas was a member of the Columbia Law School faculty. Dr. Butler pointed out a new dean for the law school without having consulted the faculty. Douglas resigned, because he believed that no president of a university should appoint a dean without first discussing it with the faculty. . . . The next year one professor approached Douglas and asked him to return. "Not as long as Dr. Butler is there," said Douglas. . . . "Well, keep this under your hat," the professor confided, 15 years ago, "but I know definitely that Dr. Butler at last has decided to resign."

SGT. AND Mrs. Robert Hopkins were disturbed at the American news accounts of their marriage, because of the references to the bride as a dancehall hostess. Harry Hopkins' new daughter-in-law has been working for British Waterworks. In her spare time she went to the American Red Cross canteen on dance-nights. . . . Beatrice Lillie and Leonora Corbett received a bottle of 20-year-old Scotch. "This is much too precious to drink," they agreed. They're using it one drop at a time, behind each ear, as perfume.

The Al Smith Memorial Exhibit at the City Museum will be opened Jan. 16, with the Mayor, Bob Moses and Archbishop Spellman presiding.

A SOCIETY-CONSCIOUS lady visited Tallulah Bankhead a few days ago, and made frequent references to her blue-blooded friends and their social doings. Tallulah, who had purchased a Christmas present for the lady's daughter, then asked her: "Where shall I address the child's presents?"

"To our home," said the lady. "But where will I find the address?" asked Miss Bankhead. "In the Register," said the lady. . . . "What Register?" Tallulah continued, waiting for the words she knew would come. . . . "The Social Register, naturally," said the lady. "You have one, of course?"

"No," said Tallulah, haughtily. "We keep nothing less than Burke's Peerage around this house."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. R. S. Allen now on active service)

Washington.—Those in the know inside the Pentagon building say that if there is ever a thorough army probe it will show that U. S. intelligence fell down even more badly than former Chief of Staff

General Peyton March indicated regarding advance preparations for the German breakthrough. Even American news dispatches told of German activity behind the lines and lights burning at night.

Military experts also say, however, that other factors contributed to the serious setback, one of them being failure to have experienced colonels and lieutenant-colonies as field commanders. They trace this back to a ruling by the late General McNair, commander of the ground forces, that no colonel over 48 could serve in combat overseas.

This meant that many of the regular army, national guard and reserve officers who had been under fire in the last war, trained their men in the United States, went with them to the port of embarkation, then were left behind at desk jobs in the U. S. A. Youngsters, who were only lieutenants or captains in 1941, took their places. These youngsters had all the courage and vigor in the world, but they lacked one thing so all-important in battle—experience under fire.

—106TH DIVISION CAVED FIRST—

Military experts point out that the division reported to have caved in first when the Germans counter-attacked was the 106th. It had just gone into the line and not one hostile shot had ever been fired over its head. This division gave way like straws before a tornado.

If a committee of congress should ever take the trouble to look up the officers of the 106th division it will find that just before it sailed all its older field officers were removed, and younger, but very green officers, put in their places. Had the 106th division held for only a few hours it would have made all the difference in the world to the rest of the army and to the length of the war.

Military experts say somewhat the same thing happened at Kasserine Pass and Salerno. At Kasserine Pass, Green Field Commanders ignored the first rudiments of defense, namely that a halted regiment should dig in and prepare field fortifications in enemy territory.

Major General Lloyd Fredendall was made the goat at Kasserine Pass and transferred back to the U. S. A., just as Major General Ernest Dawley was made the goat at Salerno. However, high-up officers, who have studied these battles, say the real fault was not theirs, but that all colonels of the 34th division which lost so heavily at Kasserine were replaced by green field commanders just before the division saw action. To get the entire picture, it is necessary to recall that after Pearl Harbor the army collected the majors, lieutenant-colonels and colonels from the regular army, national guard and reserves who had battle training in world war I, calling many from civil life, and put them in charge of troop training. As a result the army had a sizeable group of experienced field officers not easily stampeded.

—CAPITAL CHAFF—
One of the last acts of the 78th Senate was to cancel from the federal government's list of assets, money borrowed by four southern cities in 1861, just before the civil war. These have been listed as "unavailable cash" since that date. New Orleans owed $31,164.44, Little Rock, Ark. $5,823.50; Savannah, Ga., $295.76, and Galveston, Tex., $83.36. . . . Aviation enthusiast Representative Jennings Randolph has introduced a bill authorizing the government to repay employees for the use of their private airplanes on government business—just as is now done with automobiles and motorcycles.

The CIO claims that Secretary of Labor Perkins has become radically anti-CIO. They will not be sorry to see her go. . . . book publishers are being subjected to strong pressure, regarding certain "inside-facts" volumes. Harpers is being pressured to publish an apology for Allan Chase's sensational "Falange," even though Chase's facts cannot be challenged. Emile Gauvreau's life of Billy Mitchell has evoked such a storm of protest from the airlines that distribution is being held down. Duell, Sloan and Pearce are groveling before Dow Chemical regarding Borkins Germany's master plan, even though it has become the textbook of several senate committees for asking postwar planning.

—SHANGRI-LA—
The army air force has discovered a new nation, a tiny little community, high up in the mountains of New Guinea. No white man is known to have visited it before, and not even neighboring natives had been there. Surrounded on two sides by mountains rising to the height of 15 or 16 thousand feet, the third side by an impassable swamp, the valley is cut off on the fourth side by a jungle-like forest several miles wide. The river runs through the valley, which is about five by twenty miles, and then disappears, apparently into the earth. The lost tribe living in the valley has developed an extensive irrigation system, army observers report. At first they were frightened by planes—now they wave at our airmen, who come quite low and are able to report that the native clothing consists entirely of strings of beads worn around the neck.

Because the land is so extensively cultivated, there is no large stretch suitable for a landing, and the air force has enough to do these days to prevent it from landing troops by parachutes. But ethnologists and other scientists will make a bee-line for New Guinea as soon as the war is over.

DRAFT AIMS AT YOUNG FARMERS

2-C Registrants Under 26 Will Get Army Examinations

As a result of telegraphic orders received yesterday, the Delta county draft board has begun the reopening of draft files of all registrants 18 through 25 who are now deferred in agricultural occupations. All of the registrants in this class, 2-C, in the 18-25 age group will be given preinduction physical examinations, excepting those who have already been rejected for military service.

A special call, or calls, will be received by the local board for the preinduction examination of men in this category, the board was informed.

Telegraphic Orders
The telegram received by the local board from state headquarters of selective service follows:

"Pursuant to orders of the director of selective service, all local boards are directed to examine immediately for the preinduction physical examination of all registrants, ages 18 through 25, in Class II-C, excluding those identified with the letters F or L. Special schedule of calls for such preinduction examination will be issued by this headquarters. Detailed instructions will follow. Advise this headquarters immediately by telegram of total number of Class II-C registrants, age 18-25, excluding F and L identifications."

The "F" identification is for those men engaged in agricultural occupations who have already been rejected for military service and the "L" identification is for those men who have been found qualified only for limited service. The army no longer is calling men for limited service.

The board announced yesterday that 38 registrants will be sent from Delta county for preinduction examination on Jan. 23 and 26 will be sent for induction on Jan. 26. Both groups will travel to Milwaukee by chartered buses. Eight men in the Delta county group who were included in the December induction call have been accepted for service in the army and four were inducted into the navy.

The men accepted for the army follow: Thomas Beauchamp, Edward Ritchie, Leslie E. Anderson, Lawrence J. Bussineau, Wilfred Arnold Ambeau, Napoleon Henry Micheau, Robert E. Lester and Myron Farley. The latter two are transfers from other boards.

The registrants accepted by the navy follow: Andrew H. Juncas, Jr., Donald Henry Pfeiffer, John Jack Pratt, and Bernard Conrad Olson. Olson is a transfer from another board.

Salvation Army Hid Money Pots

In Liberated Holland, (Aneta)—Salvation Army collection pots, carefully hidden for the four years during which the Germans banned Salvation Army activity, reappeared on the streets of liberated parts of Holland during Christmas week.

The people, warmly greeting the return of these long-familiar tokens of the Salvation Army's work among the poor, cheerfully donated coins and bills.

Officers and soldiers of the organization have brought out of concealment the uniforms which the Nazis forbade them to wear during the occupation and have resumed holding meetings through out the liberated territory.

Kids Trap Weasels For Pocket Money

Shingleton—Sportsmen and hunters for profit may track the wily wolf and the sneaking coyote, the bobcat and the fox but the school boys of upper Michigan still have their sport and earn some profit, too, by trapping white weasels. These animals are numerous in the area and many a school boy earns a tidy bit by his take of weasel over the winter season. Once in a while a lucky boy gets a red fox in his trap, too.

The Coast Guard operates the largest, most up to date fleet of fire boats in the world.

WILSON MAN WAR CASUALTY

Pfc. Everett Smith Is Reported Missing In Action

Pfc. Everett D. Smith, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Smith, Route One, Wilson, has been missing in action in Belgium since Dec. 19, the war department has informed his parents.

This is the first casualty reported in this area as a result of the big German offensive that was launched in Belgium on Dec. 16.

Pfc. Smith entered service in October, 1943, and went overseas in April of this year. He received his basic training at Camp Grant, Ill. Before entering service he attended Broadview Academy, La-Grange, Ill.

After landing in England, Smith had fought in Belgium, France, Holland and Germany.

He will be 20 years old April 21, 1945.

Lt. Gislason Gets Silver Star Medal

Washington Island, Wis.—The Silver Star medal has recently been awarded by Adm. Harold R. Stark, commander of U. S. Naval forces in Europe, in the name of the president of the United States, to Lt. Gene R. Gislason, USCGR, of Washington Island, Wis., for outstanding heroism and devotion to duty as commanding officer of the U.S. LCI (L) 94, while landing assault troops in Normandy, France, on June 6, 1944.

According to the official citation awarding Lt. Gislason the Silver Star medal, he successfully directed his ship through numerous beach obstacles to the proper beach, discharged his troops and retracted while his ship was seriously damaged from heavy enemy fire.

Lt. Gislason has participated in the invasions of Sicily, Italy and France. He is a graduate of the Sturgeon Bay high school, class of 1934, and of the New York State Merchant Marine academy, class of 1938. He was appointed an ensign in the U. S. Coast Guard in 1942. His mother, Mrs. Ruth R. Gislason, resides on Washington Island.

Until 1942, the United States imported about 50,000,000 pounds of dates annually.

Jury Reports Westlund Not Guilty Of Assault

Herbert Westlund of Rock last night was acquitted by a circuit court jury of eight men and four women of a charge that he assaulted Conservation Officer Allen Tweedy of Rapid River with an automobile the morning of May 4, 1944.

The decision of the jury was reached after five hours deliberation. Circuit Judge Frank A. Bell returned to the court house to hear the jury report its "not guilty" verdict at 9:30 o'clock last night.

Westlund was charged with assault without intending to inflict great bodily harm less than the crime of murder. The charge was placed against him after his car had struck and injured Officer Tweedy on a road about 14 miles north of Rapid River. Tweedy was injured when he attempted to halt Westlund's car by standing in the road with upraised hand. Tweedy suffered a fractured wrist and rib and a leg injury.

Arraigned in justice court after the accident, Westlund and his two companions paid fines of $25 each for spearing wall-eyed pike out of season. Conservation officers confiscated 42 pike from the Westlund car.

Yesterday the jury heard the testimony of nine witnesses. At 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon the jury retired, following an outline of the issues in the case by Judge Bell.

At the opening of court yesterday morning Officer Tweedy completed his testimony. Other witnesses were Sgt. Willard Wisom and Trooper Meyer of the Gladstone state police post, Arnold Sayen and Waino Mattila of Rock, who were companions of Westlund at the time of his arrest May 4; Emil Koski, Rock auto mechanic; Supervisor Walter Mannie and Supt. George Weingartner of the Rock public school, who appeared as character witnesses for Westlund, and Westlund himself.

Westlund's counsel in his argument to the jury described the respondent as a man who had used reasonable caution in the operation of his car. He also said that the speed of the car and the sudden appearance of Officer Tweedy in the roadway made it impossible for Westlund to avoid the officer.

Prosecutor Torval E. Strom told the jury that Westlund "assaulted" an officer in trying to get away after violating the law. He said Tweedy had run backward 37 feet in efforts to halt Westlund, and that when he was unable to get out of the way was struck by the car and carried on the front of it for 69 feet.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Bell said there was really one important decision for the jury: Were Officer Tweedy's injuries inflicted intentionally or accidentally? He pointed out there was no dispute that Tweedy had been injured, or that Westlund was driving the car that struck the officer.

Commenting on the testimony of the defense character witnesses, Judge Bell said that he personally could not agree that "it does not hurt a man's reputation to be a game law violator."

The jury was instructed that it could report three possible verdicts: Guilty as charged; guilty of

Miner-Jackovich

Miss Betty Lou Miner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miner of Wells, and Alvin Jackovich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jackovich of Gladstone, were united in marriage at a 8 o'clock mass at All Saints church in Gladstone Saturday morning. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Schaul, pastor of All Saints church.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Van Dale, also of Gladstone.

The bride wore a white satin and net formal with a shoulder veil, and she carried a bouquet of white pom-poms. The bridesmaid wore a pink satin and net formal, and carried a bouquet of pom-poms and roses.

Breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, and a 4 o'clock dinner was served for 25 guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson, sister of the bridegroom. A large wedding cake centered the table on which was an arrangement of tapers and flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackovich will make their home in Gladstone, where Mr. Jackovich is employed with the Northwestern Plywood & Veneer company.

Daughters of Isabella

The Daughters of Isabella will meet at St. Patrick's parish hall Monday evening, Jan. 8, at 8 p. m. This is the first business meeting of the year and games will be played at the close of the meeting. There will be no charge for the games.

Birthday Party

Ralph Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamilton Sr., 127 South Eighteenth street, celebrated his eighth birthday anniversary by entertaining a group of his little friends at a theater party last Saturday.

A delicious lunch was served at the home after the show. Decorations carried out the New Year's theme. Guests were Ruth and Stuart Jensen, Roger Barry, Leonard Boudreau, John Lund, Donny Mathews, Donald Dehlin, Jim Miller and his brother, Kenneth Hamilton.

Honor Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. James Buku, married last August at Clintonville, Okla., were honored Wednesday night at a dance at Ogontz hall, sponsored by Mrs. Buku's parents, Supervisor and Mrs. Harold F. Gustafson, of Ensign Mrs. Buku is the former Lois Gustafson. Following the dance the young couple was presented with a purse of money.

On Tuesday Mrs. Buku was honored at a shower at the Gustafson home. She was the recipient of many gifts.

Yesterday afternoon the couple left for Ann Arbor where they will make their home.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE E-256: Dr. Harry G., aged 30, is a trained psychologist in the field of Vocational Guidance.

"We invited him to address our High School PTA meeting," an advertising executive informed me.

"He seemed to know his stuff, all right, but he certainly should have had a course in public speaking."

"For example, he spoke in tones that would be O. K. in a small business office, but they were hardly audible beyond the third or fourth row."

"Somebody in the audience called out that we couldn't hear him. He raised his voice but we still couldn't catch his words in the back of the room."

Lack of Platform Psychology
"Then he tried to illustrate his address with printed cards the size of typewriter paper."

"Our audience was made up of at least 1,500 people, so you can imagine how futile it was to expect them to see small print on 8 1/2 x 11 pages."

"But he never seemed to realize the incongruity of his behavior. He would tell us to 'Look at this figure in the lower left-hand corner of the page,' when we could hardly see the page itself."

"Another evidence of his failure to understand public platform psychology occurred when he decided to use the blackboard. Instead of employing white chalk, he picked up the red chalk. Naturally, we couldn't see it."

"We were growing restless and irritated, when the banker of our town spoke up rather sharply and asked if this meeting was to be a visual test for the audience or a discussion of vocational guidance."

"Dr. Harry apologized and employed white chalk at once and also increased the size of his writing."

"I will give him credit Dr. Crane, for knowing his subject matter and for being willing to try to present it, but why can't an educated man have at least a little common sense about the rudiments of public speaking?"

"I should think that every college man would take at least one course in speech. Then he would know enough to talk so the rear rows could hear."

Public Speaking Psychology
There are many professional men with advanced college degrees who still make the same errors cited about Dr. Harry.

In fact, if you readers could attend our medical and psychological meetings, you'd see an almost total dearth of Applied Psychology in the methods and procedures employed.

They bore their audiences to such a degree that the men go to sleep or sneak out and leave the hall scarcely half full. If it weren't for the advent of loud speakers, a majority of them could scarcely be heard beyond the first rows.

And they seem almost wholly devoid of a sense of dramatics or of public platform devices for pepping up an audience. They don't "package" their ideas attractively.

Everybody of average intelligence can soon learn how to make an interesting speech. It really isn't very difficult to do, if you follow the proper psychological formulae. But be sure you speak loudly! Amateurs don't.

Children Invited To Participate In Annual Ice Revue

Children of any ages from Escanaba or Gladstone desiring to participate in the annual ice revue are invited to report at the indoor ice rink Saturday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock.

Miss Marjorie Davies, director of the revue, is now arranging the cast, the chorus numbers and specialty acts for the show.

Van Meer

Van Meer—Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Berry and son Jerry and Tommy Thorne returned from visiting relatives at Marion and Cadillac, Mt. Pleasant, Monday. They report highways in a very icy condition.

Pfc. Franklin Berry veteran of the Pacific battle fronts has enrolled in the Marine Institute for work in high school which he missed when he enlisted in the Marines at the age of 17, in 1942.

Miss Evelyn Gamble and Mrs. Harvey Gamble called on Mrs. Frank Berry Tuesday afternoon.

Pfc. Eric Watson spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Watson of Melstrand. Mrs. Audrey Jolly of Newberry also spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Watson. Mrs. Ferrit Watson and three children of Munising were Christmas guests at the home of her husband's parents. Pvt. Ferrit Watson is in the battle area in the European war.

Friends of Charles Maddox will be interested in hearing from him but sorry that he is in an army hospital suffering from injuries received in maneuvers while training at an army camp.

CANDLE AUCTION

One of the oldest forms of selling is that of auction by candle. A small candle is lit as the article is put up for sale and the last bid made before it burns out is the successful one.

El Salvador has about 12,000 coffee plantations, or fincas with a total of about 140,000,000 trees.

Frances Vardigan Becomes Bride Of Corporal Bert Ray

Miss Frances Vardigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vardigan, of 1302 North 18th street, and Cpl. Bert Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ray of Cornell, were united in marriage at a ceremony which took place on Tuesday morning, Jan. 2, at St. Joseph's church. The vows were spoken before Rev. Fr. Alphonse Wilberding.

The couple was attended by Mrs. Paul Vardigan, sister of the groom, and Paul Vardigan, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a white dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. Mrs. Vardigan wore pink wool with matching accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

The couple left the following morning for Minter Field, Calif., where Cpl. Ray is stationed.

Obituary

MRS. ORVILLE KLAGSTAD
IS SUMMONEDHiawatha Township Lady
Dies At Advanced Age
Of Ninety-Three

Mrs. Katherine Hagquist, 93, a resident of the Manistique vicinity for sixty years, died early Wednesday morning at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Henry Miller, in Hiawatha township.

Mrs. Hagquist had been in poor health for the past two years, and for the past three months had been bed ridden, but prior to that she had enjoyed remarkably good health for one of such advanced years.

The aged woman was born in Vermland, Sweden, on March 15, 1852, grew to womanhood and was married there. The family migrated to this country in 1885 and came to Manistique the same year.

Thirty-five years ago they settled on the farm near Hiawatha township where she lived up to the time of her death. Her husband, the late Ole Hagquist, died about sixteen years ago and her three children, Hilma, Edward and Enoch also preceded her in death. The only immediate surviving relatives are her two grand-children, Mrs. Anna Gauthier and Mrs. Esther Sablack, both of Manistique and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Hagquist was for many years a member of Zion Lutheran church and the ladies aid of that congregation.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the Kefauver & Jackson funeral home, with Rev. P. S. Nestander officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Kefauver & Jackson funeral home until time of the funeral.

Any team that will offer them anything approaching competition will have to be at its peak of perfection.

MANISTIQUE

MRS. HAGQUIST
IS SUMMONEDHiawatha Township Lady
Dies At Advanced Age
Of Ninety-Three

Mrs. Katherine Hagquist, 93, a resident of the Manistique vicinity for sixty years, died early Wednesday morning at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Henry Miller, in Hiawatha township.

Mrs. Hagquist had been in poor health for the past two years, and for the past three months had been bed ridden, but prior to that she had enjoyed remarkably good health for one of such advanced years.

The aged woman was born in Vermland, Sweden, on March 15, 1852, grew to womanhood and was married there. The family migrated to this country in 1885 and came to Manistique the same year.

Thirty-five years ago they settled on the farm near Hiawatha township where she lived up to the time of her death. Her husband, the late Ole Hagquist, died about sixteen years ago and her three children, Hilma, Edward and Enoch also preceded her in death. The only immediate surviving relatives are her two grand-children, Mrs. Anna Gauthier and Mrs. Esther Sablack, both of Manistique and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Hagquist was for many years a member of Zion Lutheran church and the ladies aid of that congregation.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the Kefauver & Jackson funeral home, with Rev. P. S. Nestander officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Kefauver & Jackson funeral home until time of the funeral.

Any team that will offer them anything approaching competition will have to be at its peak of perfection.

MISSING IN GERMANY
Norway—Roy Irving Albert, 20, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Albert, 312 Saginaw has been missing in action in Germany since Dec. 12, his parents were told in a telegram from the War Department received yesterday noon.

Overseas since September, he served as gunner in an Infantry Division believed to be attached to the Third Army.

When wonder of kidney function permits poison cause matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, fatigue, loss of sleep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. URGES USE OF TAX BULLETINAggie Extension Dept.
Booklet Explains
Income Tax

Practically every farmer will have to file a federal income tax return for 1944. Joseph Hierman, county agent, who has recently conducted meetings in Schoolcraft and Alger counties explaining some of the mystifying features of this annual bugbear with which farmers will have to contend.

The final return, he states, will be due on or before March 15, the same as last year, but the "Declaration of Estimated Income Tax for 1944" is due January 15, 1945. Farmers, however, who can make their final return on or before January 15 do not need to make this "Declaration of Estimated Income Tax. The income tax report is quite similar to the report required of farmers last year, except for a few minor changes which simplify the return.

At the meetings which Mr. Hierman has conducted, he covered the subject in a thorough and understandable way, but he realized that hundreds of farmers, for one reason or another, were not able to attend these meetings and will probably be badly in need of help and advice in making out their returns. For their benefit, he states that he has on hand a large number of copies of Extension Bulletin 257 (Revised) which explain this problem thoroughly and which may be secured at his office without cost. In this bulletin are shown the various forms to be used, how they should be filled out, methods of calculating the tax and a very comprehensive question and answer department.

"I shall be glad to help any farmer with his tax return problems," says Mr. Hierman, "but I am afraid that when the last minute rush is on, the number who can be helped, is limited. For that reason I wish that as many as can, will call at my office and get a copy of this bulletin, which I am sure will be a great help to them."

HOOSIERS NEXT
MICHIGAN FOEAnn Arbor, Mich., Jan. 4. (P)— An Indiana university basketball team, led by Michigan scouts as "much improved" over last season when the Hoosiers lost twice to the Wolverines and took only two Big Ten games, provides the opposition here tomorrow as Michigan enters a two-game week-end on the hardwood.Indiana, returning to the typical "Hoosier offense" of fast-breaking, rapid-fire shooting after trying the slower style last season, has six victories in eight games to date this year, losing only to Kentucky's powerhouse and Depauw (Ind.) university.The Wolverines, who journey to Champaign Saturday to tackle Illinois, have one conference game under their belts already—last week's 44 to 41 overtime loss to Ohio State—and off that performance probably should rate as favorites over Indiana. Michigan's record for the season, going into the Indiana tilt, is seven wins against one loss.No. 1 task of the Wolverines Friday is to stop the Hoosiers' front offensive line of center Al Kravlovsky and forwards Gene Farris and Charles Radcliffe. That trio, topped in height by the six-foot, 3½-inch Kravlovsky, packs most of the Indiana scoring punch.Against the Hoosiers, Coach Ben Oosterbaan probably will open with a Michigan lineup consisting of Bob Cehan and John Mullaney at forwards, Don Lund at center and Walter Kell and Don Lindquist or Dick Rifenburg at guards.
Kell is the leading Michigan point maker with 65 in eight games.The Wolverines will shove off Saturday morning for Illinois and can look for plenty of trouble

Free Golf Play,

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, Jan. 4. (P)—Hot blasts usually come in from the south, so it was only natural for Gene Sarazen to blow in from that direction with a few choice remarks about the treatment of service men by some golf clubs in southern territory.The exact location of the clubs which aroused the squire's ire was not specified, but inasmuch as he had just returned from the Miami sector, where he competed in a tournament, the general location may be deduced."Some of the clubs are charging service men up to $2 green fees," he charged. "Put the caddy fees on top of that and it's more than the men can afford. And some of these fellows are back home after completing 50 missions, and are looking for a little healthful recreation."No Greens Fees
"On top of that, the tournament in which I took part had a field that included nearly 50 per cent service men. Hardly any of them had any chance at all of getting any prize money out of it, yet they had to plunk down their $10 fee like civilians.""It's my contention that service men should be permitted to play on any course without paying a greens fee, and should be permitted to enter any tournament without paying a fee. That's the least that could be done for them."We wouldn't know how general
the practice is, either in Florida
or in other parts of the country,
of charging service men greens fees and tournament entry fees, but apparently enough of such penny pinching came to Sarazen's notice to arouse his resentment.He's right, of course, about service men being given every possible opportunity to play golf without having to touch their pocketbooks.We can think of no other reason for charging greens fees that are probably prohibitive as far as service men are concerned than a desire to keep service men off the courses, as it is costing the clubs nothing when the men play, unless they are concerned with a few cents for soap and towels. The courses already are there and must be kept up whether one man or 100 play them, and it is taken for granted the service men who want to play golf are golfers and are not going out there to use their mashes as plows and take divots out of greens.We wouldn't confine every possible freedom of the city, any city, for service men to golf. We'd let them enjoy free any sports activity or event in which their presence would not make any difference one way or another. That is, in cases where the event would proceed whether they were there or not. The idea is that the making of money off service men doesn't seem right.The boys are giving up too game directly in their own hands, giving the commissioner just enough authority to iron out differences of opinion and to enforce the mandates of the magnates.Since Judge Landis has most effectively expunged evil elements from baseball and has brought the game back to a high level of public faith, the unlimited power possessed by the judge may not be necessary for the new commissioner to keep baseball following a smooth and level road. It may be presumed that the club owners, in their eagerness to regain some of the rights that they lost when Landis took over the need for effective control of the gambling elements that brought the game to its knees in 1919.Servicemen Rate without paying a fee. That's the least that could be done for them."We wouldn't know how general

the practice is, either in Florida
or in other parts of the country,
of charging service men greens fees
and tournament entry fees, but apparently enough of such penny
pinching came to Sarazen's notice
to arouse his resentment.He's right, of course, about service men being given every possible opportunity to play golf without having to touch their pocket-
books.We can think of no other reason for charging greens fees that are probably prohibitive as far as service men are concerned than a desire to keep service men off the courses, as it is costing the clubs
nothing when the men play, unless they are concerned with a few cents for soap and towels. The courses already are there and must be kept up whether one man or 100 play them, and it is taken for granted the service men who want to play golf are golfers and are not going out there to use their mashes as plows and take divots out of greens.We wouldn't confine every possible freedom of the city, any city, for service men to golf. We'd let them enjoy free any sports activity or event in which their presence would not make any difference one way or another. That is, in cases where the event would proceed whether they were there
or not. The idea is that the making of money off service men
doesn't seem right.The boys are giving up too much as it is, and aren't getting too much money. What they can save will come in handy after the war, and they can't save much if they are forced to pay civilian rates for their pleasure.the same Pacific naval base and are slated to play on the same service baseball team. Trucks

PLANS ARE LAIDAnnual Dinner Will Be Held At Lutheran
ChurchThe annual Chamber of Commerce football recognition banquet will be held at the Bethany Lutheran church Tuesday evening, Jan.
16, with Don Hutson, Green Bay Packer star, as the principal speaker, it was announced yesterday by the committee in charge of arrangements. The dinner will be prepared and served by the members of the Ladies' Aid of the church.Tickets for the banquet were placed on sale yesterday afternoon and it is planned to complete the ticket sale by next Thursday, Jan.
11. Persons desiring to attend the banquet and who are not contacted by members of the committee are requested to call the Chamber of Commerce office to make reservations. Each ticket purchased pays the admission for a football player of the Escanaba and St. Joseph high schools, as well as the admission of the purchaser.A group of approximately 200 persons can be accommodated in the banquet hall of the Bethany Lutheran church, permitting an attendance at the annual banquet of about 50 more persons than usual.Swimmer Is First

Sullivan MemorialNew York, Jan. 4. (P)—Ann Curtis, statuesque San Francisco miss who holds a national swimming record for each of her 18 years, is the winner of the James E.
Sullivan Memorial award for 1944.
Secretary-Treasurer Dan Ferris of the National Amateur Athletic Union announced today.She is the first woman ever to win the trophy, which will be given her at a ceremony still to be arranged.The award, decided by the vote of 600 sports writers and broadcasters, is given annually to the athlete judged to have done the most during the year to advance the cause of sportsmanship. Last summer at the National A. U. outdoor meet Miss Curtis won every free style event.In the Sullivan award poll, won last year by Trackman Gil Dotts, the San Francisco miss garnered 694 points to 440 for Yale's Alan Ford, also a swimmer. On Dec.
18 Miss Curtis was named the year's outstanding woman athlete in a voting tabulated by the Associated Press.A third swimmer, Bill Smith of Honolulu and Ohio State, was third with 307 points. Pauline Betz of

Navy Recruiters Are Transferred

Marquette—Chief Quartermaster Charles Graham and Chief Machinist's Mate H. W. Edgerly, in charge of the navy recruiting office here, have been ordered to new duty stations.

Chief Graham, who has been here since July, left Wednesday for Milwaukee and will continue from there to Seattle, Wash. Chief Edgerly, also here since July, has gone to Chicago. Further orders have not been disclosed, and he may be sent back here or go to a new station.

In their absence, Petty Officer B. J. Dryer will be the recruiter in charge of the office, assisted by Petty Officer John Vanderlay, who was sent here from Milwaukee. Dryer formerly was a traveling recruiter based in Marquette.

DANDELION COFFEE

In many countries, the dried roots of dandelions are used as a substitute for coffee. The leaves of this plant make a fine salad, and its young sprouts are valuable in soups.

Briefly Told

Case Continued—The case of Victor Kronlund, 65, of Escanaba, charged with taking indecent liberties without intending to commit the crime of rape, has been continued. Kronlund had pleaded not guilty and was to be tried at this term of circuit court.

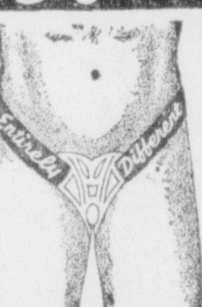

Miss Elsie Arntzen who has been spending a holiday visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Arntzen, has left for Flint where she is employed.

Red Cross Reopens—Red Cross production rooms at Escanaba will be reopened Monday, Jan. 8, for sewing and knitting, it was announced last night. Work was suspended over the holiday season, and now the spring program of production will be started.

Bermuda is 677 miles southeast of New York.

Livestock Menaced By Holland Floods

Goes, Holland, (Aneta)—A total of 4,000 horses and cattle are in danger of drowning in flooded Walcheren island and efforts are being pressed to move them to safety on nearby territory, such as Zuid Beveland, it was officially announced. Netherlands authorities hope it still will be possible to rescue the greater part of the livestock.

In West Zeeland Flanders, of 2,500 horses, 1,000 have been lost and of 2,300 cows, 930 have drowned. Forty per cent of the young cattle were drowned in this area, 20 per cent of the farms have been totally destroyed, 15 per cent heavily damaged and 10 per cent slightly damaged.
